

Thread
3mo ago

Divyang Desai 3mo ago

Are we getting less expressive?

- Everyone sounds the same because everybody has a voice coach.
- The recent old-money clothes trend makes everyone
- People don't have ringtones on their phones; instead, keeping the phone silent or on vibrate is the norm
- The whole 'aura meter' trend. If you break a rhythm, make a mistake, or end up looking like a fool, you lose your aura points...

1/5

Divyang Desai 3mo ago

Most of the trends in recent times have originated to serve a single purpose...that is to make people feel less expressive or make everyone look, behave, and sound the same.

Being disciplined or having a strict routine is beneficial for sure, but the actual fun of being human is in the diversity.

2/5

Divyang Desai 3mo ago

Diversity in personality
Diversity in voices
Diversity in mannerisms.
Diversity of thoughts
Diversity of hobbies

3/5

Divyang Desai 3mo ago

Some people use their hands a lot while they talk.
Someone laughs loudly, and their laughter is contagious.

Someone is known for flirting a lot,
Someone is shy and silent.

4/5

Divyang Desai 3mo ago

Consistency can be great, but being predictable is an unpleasant way to live.

So break the character once in a while. Redefine and reintroduce yourself to the people around you. I can bet that your soul craves something like this...

5/5

(👤) 23    💬 0

Unlock Performance Score

Performance Scores show you what content your audience is enjoying. Upgrade to Pro to unlock this feature.

Upgrade to Pro

Learn More

Add a comment...

Comment